TO KNOW

MATT JULI, BOSTON FEATURES EDITOR

It's been 54 years since Mary Poppins first cast her spell on moviegoers. Now, the popular Disney character is back to inspire a whole new generation. While Emily Blunt takes on the role of the titular nanny, "Mary Poppins Returns" also features another familiar face who's no stranger to musicals: Washington Heights' own Lin-Manuel Miranda.

Metro caught up with Miranda to chat about the film and what's next for the Golden Globe-nominated "Hamilton" star.

WELCOME TO
METRO.USACTRESS, DIRECTOR PENNY
MARSHALL DEAD AT 75

Penny Marshall, who played an endearingly graceless character with a thick Bronx accent in television's "Laverne & Shirley" before becoming a pioneering film director with hits including "Big" and "A League of Their Own," has died at 75, her publicist said on Tuesday. Marshall died of complications of diabetes Monday at her home in Hollywood Hills, California, her publicist, Michelle Bega said in a phone interview. Marshall played the unrefined but lovable Laverne DeFazio on "Laverne & Shirley," a sitcom that ran on the ABC network from 1976 to 1983, following the lives of two single women and their nutty friends in 1950s and '60s Milwaukee. Marshall, known for her bluntness, described the success of the series this way: "We dared to be stupid." Marshall, the younger sister of successful TV and film director and producer Garry Marshall, turned to directing after her series ended. Her first film was the underwhelming 1986 Whoopi Goldberg comedy "Jumpin' Jack Flash," but that was followed by the charming 1988 hit "Big," starring fellow former TV sitcom star Tom Hanks.

MUSK'S BORING COMPANY TO UNVEIL LA TUNNEL

The Boring Company, Elon Musk's underground transit venture, planned an unveiling of its first tunnel on Tuesday, two years after the billionaire entrepreneur complained about Los Angeles traffic and vowed to "just start digging" as a remedy. Musk has advertised his two-mile tunnel as the first step toward developing a high-speed subterranean network for whisking vehicles and pedestrians below the congested streets of the second-largest city in the United States. The tunnel, an initial proof-of-concept, has been excavated along a path that runs not through Los Angeles but beneath the tiny adjacent municipality of Hawthorne, where Musk's Boring Company and his SpaceX rocket firm are both headquartered. The Boring Company announced plans for a live webcast on Tuesday at 8 p.m. local time of what it called a "product launch" for the tunnel, but gave scant details. In a tweet earlier this month, Musk said the big reveal would include "autonomous transport cars & ground to tunnel elevator cars."

'STAR WARS' LUCAS LEADS
FORBES' CELEB WEALTH LIST

4 Filmmaker George Lucas' "Star Wars" empire — the movie franchise, not Darth Vader's fictional galactic government — planted him firmly atop Forbes magazine's third annual ranking of the wealthiest U.S. celebrities, which was released on Tuesday. The net worth of the 74-year-old writer, director, producer and creator of the enduring space saga was estimated at $5.4 billion, leading a list that also included athletes, musicians and one wealthy illusionist. Most of Lucas' wealth came from the $4.05 billion sale of the LucasFilm production company to Walt Disney Co. in 2012, Forbes said. The figures on the list are Forbes' estimates based on the celebrities' known holdings of real estate, art and shares of companies both public and private, as well as other assets and estimated lifetime earnings. Reuters has not independently confirmed the figures. Fellow filmmaker Steven Spielberg, who turned 72 on Tuesday, came in second, with an estimated $3.7 billion net worth. Spielberg's career as director, writer and producer spans some 50 years with credits that include "Jaws," "E.T.," "Raiders of the Lost Ark," "Schindler's List" and "Saving Private Ryan."

MOURINHO SACKED BY MANCHESTER UNITED

5 Jose Mourinho's relationship with Manchester United reached irretrievable breakdown a long time ago, but the Old Trafford hierarchy finally served the divorce papers on Tuesday as the world's biggest club sacked the game's most famous manager. The decision came with United having labored to their worst start for 28 years playing dull, defense-minded football, with Mourinho cutting an ever-angrier figure after each setback, and Sunday's 3-1 loss at Liverpool was one humiliation too far. Having been knocked off their perch by the success of former United manager Alex Ferguson, Liverpool showed just how far back up they have climbed on Sunday as they brushed United aside like the mediocre mid-table team they have become. With Liverpool fans singing, "Don't sack Mourinho" it was the end of the line for the Portuguese coach after two-and-a-half years — and came 11 months after he extended his contract. "Manchester United announces that manager Jose Mourinho has left the club with immediate effect," the 20-time English league title winners said in a brief statement.

‘Kill yourself!’ tweeted by state senator to woman who points out his parking placard use

Sen. Kevin Parker from Brooklyn quickly took down the improper message, but the Twitterverse remembers.

KRISTIN TOUSSAINT
kristin.toussaint@metro.us

New York State Sen. Kevin Parker tweeted “Kill yourself!” at a woman after she pointed out unauthorized use of his official parking placard.

Parker has since deleted the tweet, which was captured in a screenshot and shared on Twitter, and apologized for “a poor choice of words.”

Candice Giove, a former New York Post reporter and current deputy communications director of the New York State Senate Majority, responded to a tweet from Dec. 13 concerning a car blocking the Second Avenue bike lane between 43rd and 44th streets.

A parking placard on the car identified the vehicle as being on “official business” for the state of New York, but obstructing a bike lane is illegal in New York City.

The original tweet identified the then-unknown senator responsible for the car as an “arrogant scofflaw” for clearly breaking the law.

Giove then stepped in with more information, identifying the parking placard as one assigned to Parker. But, she added, the license plate number on the placard did not match the vehicle, meaning “he either used it in another car or gave it to someone to use, both of which are not permitted.”

It was to this tweet that Parker responded,

“Kill yourself!” The person who originally tweeted the photo, Chesney Parks, was blocked by Parker on Twitter as well.

Parks (not their real name) told Metro in an email that they cycle around New York City all the time and often tweet pictures of drivers who abuse their city parking placards and compromise cyclist safety.

“Placard abuse is a huge problem in this city and symptomatic of a wider culture of entitlement and corruption among authorities and city workers,” they told Metro. “Sen. Parker’s response to this has been absolutely disgraceful and shows that he has the wrong temperament for public service. He could have just apologized and promised that it wouldn’t happen again; instead, he chose to get abusive. He even blocked me!”

“Expose a senator’s corrupt law breaking and this is the thanks you get,” Parks tweeted, with a screenshot of the news that Parker had blocked their account. “[Sen. Parker] you are a dishonest coward.”

When Giove shared Parker’s “Kill yourself!” tweet, adding, “Did a Senator just write this to me?” Parker then deleted his harsh response. He tweeted to Giove, writing: “I sincerely apologize. I used a poor choice of words. Suicide is a serious thing and should not be made light of.”

But the internet never forgets, and people immediately started sharing screenshots of Parker’s “Kill yourself!” tweet.

Parker’s office did not immediately respond to a request for comment from Metro.

False internet speeds result in massive fines for Charter Comm. from state AG

Free months of HBO or Showtime are part of the cable giant's $174M settlement.

WILL DRICKEY
will.drickey@metro.us

If you pay for Spectrum internet, you might be getting a refund in the mail from Charter Communications given New York Attorney General Barbara Underwood's announcement of a $174.2 million settlement with the company for committing consumer fraud.

"This settlement should serve as a wake-up call to any company serving New York consumers: fulfill your promises, or pay the price," Underwood said in a statement. "Not only is this the largest-ever consumer payout by an internet service provider, returning tens of millions of dollars to New Yorkers who were ripped off and providing additional streaming and premium channels as restitution — but it also sets a new standard for how internet providers should fairly market their services."

For those affected by the Spectrum fraud case, $62.5 million of the settlement has been earmarked for direct restitution. If you have leased a shoddy modem or router or subscribed to a Time Warner Cable plan promising internet speeds of 100 megabytes per second or higher, Charter will refund you $75. Additionally, Charter will pay another $75 to anyone who has had an inadequate modem for 24 months or longer.

As a further part of the settlement, Charter will have to offer every one of its internet subscribers

GETTY IMAGES

"This the largest-ever consumer payout by an internet service provider, returning tens of millions of dollars to New Yorkers who were ripped off."

New York AG Barbara Underwood

one free month of Spectrum's TV Choice streaming service and another free month of Showtime. Customers who also have a cable TV subscription with Charter will be able to choose between three free months of HBO and six free months of Showtime. Anyone who is already paying for access to both premium channels is, unfortunately, out of luck.

Customers stuck with bad modems will be able to get upgraded ones (that work as advertised) from Charter shipped or installed for free. In the future, Charter will not be allowed to let customers pay more for internet service than their modems are able to fully accommodate.

According to the terms of the settlement, all of the work falls on Charter to compensate its customers. Within 120 days, the company will have to notify (and pay) everyone who is eligible for a refund or premium TV package. Failure to do so would be a violation of the terms of the settlement, so if you think you are one of the 700,000 customers that the attorney general has accused Spectrum of defrauding and do not receive a refund within the agreed time span, the attorney general's office may be interested in hearing about it.

For those who have been using bad modems or routers, Charter will have to offer replacement equipment "promptly" and via at least three different contact methods.

In the future, Charter will have to be much more conscientious about how it describes its internet service plans and will have to use industry-accepted and independent methods to verify any claims about how fast or consistent its internet service is. Furthermore, to prevent further Spectrum fraud from happening, Charter's employees will have to inform subscribers about factors that could affect their internet speeds, and keep an instructional video on its website on the subject.

Fixing NYCHA is crucial to NYC economy: Report

The loss of public housing would devastate the city's private housing market and economy.

KRISTIN TOUSSAINT
kristin.toussaint@metro.us

The New York Housing Authority (NYCHA) is in crisis, as is evident by a repair bill topping $31.8 billion in capital need and hundreds of horror stories of lead paint, heat outages, mold and more. But it's not only the public housing residents themselves at risk if NYCHA doesn't get its act together, according to a new report out Tuesday from Regional Plan Association.

The success of NYCHA is tied to the entire economy of New York City, and officials would actually have to foot a higher bill, experts say, if some public housing closed and forced hundreds of thousands of people into shelters or out of the city.

Regional Plan Association (RPA) is a nonprofit that pushes for changes in the area's infrastructure planning and repair. Just like transportation or the water delivery system, NYCHA is part of New York City infrastructure, explained Moses Gates, vice president of housing and neighborhood planning at RPA.

While NYCHA may be on par with the subway in terms of infrastructure importance, it's actually worse off, according to the report: NYCHA's capital need is expected to grow to $45.2 billion in the next 20 years, exceeding the projected costs to fix the subway.

But unlike the subway, not all New Yorkers interact with the deteriorating public housing. Beyond the fact that everyone deserves a "safe and habitable" place to live, Gates said, the state of NYCHA affects everyone.

"I haven't met one New

WIKIMEDIA COMMONS

Yorker from any borough or any stage of life or any particular means who doesn't complain about their housing situation," he said. "When you let the most affordable housing deteriorate and potentially disappear in a city with a housing crisis, that is the best way to exacerbate a housing crisis."

Public housing is the most efficient way for a city to house low-income residents, Gates added.

NYCHA developments have little overhead, he said, because the buildings are already built and the federal government funds some operating costs.

But if New York City had to house or aid these public housing tenants in other ways, like through a voucher system or emergency shelters, it would be an "exponentially larger" cost.

If just 10 percent of NYCHA developments were lost, per the report, 40,000 New Yorkers would have to compete in the private housing market or be pushed into homelessness.

"If something falls apart, you repair it and then it's good for a little bit," Gates said. "If you let something fall apart and then you have to deal with the results, the humanitarian and fiscal cost is ongoing and permanent."

$45.2B

NYCHA's capital need is expected to grow to $45.2 billion in the next 20 years, exceeding the projected costs to fix the subway.

The 400,000 NYCHA residents also play an important role in New York City's workforce and economy. These residents work at about the same rate as the entire population, but are disproportionately represented in jobs within education, health care, transportation and manufacturing.

"We have a significant elderly population that relies on home health care services, a significant young population that relies on education," said Gates. "Losing teachers and aides and nurses [is] I don't think something anybody thinks is a good idea."

Mayor Bill de Blasio on Tuesday met with U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Secretary Ben Carson over the future of NYCHA.

Carson threatened a federal takeover of NYCHA if New York City doesn't have a plan to fix the beleaguered public housing authority by Jan. 31. While de Blasio recently announced NYCHA 2.0 and a new labor plan to speed up repairs, federal control is still an option after a judge shot down an agreement between the city, NYCHA and HUD last month.

***Important Knee Arthritis Pain Alert***

Study Shows Simple Treatment Helps Avoid Knee Replacement Surgery For 75% Of Worst Cases At Least 7.3 Years...

*Free Screenings Offered At NYC Medical Clinic To See If You Qualify For This Proven And Effective Treatment. *Spots Are Limited Due To High Demand*

NYC - What would it be worth to you if... in just 60 minutes... you could finally discover a way to get relief for your knee arthritis pain?

And...

How would it feel if you could wake up tomorrow morning and some... or even all your pain was gone?

And...

Wouldn't it be wonderful to start a brand new life and leave all your pain and suffering behind?

A life where...

...you jump out of bed in the morning, well rested and ready to take on the new day, without pain...

...you don't have to take slow, limping laps around your bedroom just to be able to walk every morning...

...you can go for walks, go up and down stairs and maybe even play sports like tennis and golf again...

...you can finally do all the things and enjoy life (just like everyone else) without constant, nagging pain...

Well... that's exactly what can possibly happen to you if you spend just 60 minutes with us...

...Because that's all it will take for one of our expert doctors to show you what we believe to be the safest, and most effective knee arthritis pain treatment there is...

I know you may find this hard to believe. Just about every one does when we tell them about this... at first.

But it doesn't take long for them to turn from skeptic to raving fan as soon as their pain improves so fast.

Do You Have An Open Mind?

So, I'm not asking you to believe me just yet. All I ask is you approach this and read the rest of this information with an open mind. If you give us a chance, we promise, you won't be disappointed...

Because There is Proof Real medical proof.

Here it is. A leading Orthopedic Surgeon and knee pain expert was getting excellent results with this non-surgical treatment on his own patients. In fact, this study involved almost 2000 patients followed over 10 years.

And more specifically, he was getting amazing results the way HE was doing this treatment using high tech imaging for precise technique... just like we do it...

And he wanted to prove... beyond a shadow of a doubt... the results he got... were not only REAL... they could most likely work for others just like you.

So he conducted some research, an 11 year project, and is was published in the "Journal of Knee Surgery"... a Real and REPUTABLE medical journal (A copy of this research is available on our website or by mail)

What were his results

and what do they mean for your pain?

In this study he found that 75% of the severe knee arthritis pain patients he treated... and were facing knee replacement surgery... did not need to have knee replacement surgery... and were still OK 7.3 years later!

This is incredible news for you... and here's is why...

The patients in this study were Stage 4 knee arthritis. That's the most advanced and worst stage. These are the cases that are usually sent for knee replacement surgery.

These patients had also gone through the common medical treatments like pain and anti-inflammatory pills, physical therapy etc. and all that had failed.

So... these were the WORST cases of which every thing else had failed ... YET, after this treatment, 75% still did not need knee replacement even more than 7 years later.

And it gets better. The study only collected data up to that time. It is pretty safe to say that many may never need surgery.

Bottom line: This study clearly showed this treatment is safe and extremely effective even for even the worst cases.

So, even if you aren't one of the worst cases... imagine what it can do for you.

What IS This Treatment And How Can You Find Out If It Can Help You?

As studied as this treatment is.... you may have an "Oh No!" reaction.

Why? Because there is a very good chance you have heard of it. You may have even given it a try... and NOT gotten good results.

That's because this treatment is actually pretty common now a days. But... and this is a very big BUT... there is a very specific way to apply this treatment (as done in the study) that makes it so successful. And many are NOT doing it this way.

So... please hear us out. This really might be the answer you are looking for.

Ok... here is the treatment and the full scoop on why it works so well... when done THIS WAY.

The treatment is called "viscosupplementation." It is frequently called, "gel treatment." Or "joint oil".

In this treatment, a gel is painlessly injected directly into your arthritic joint.

This lubricates the joint, reduces friction... and allows more movement without all the inflammation and "grinding" caused by arthritis.

This is like putting oil on a rusty hinge. Once the oil is applied, the hinge can move much better.

But here is something you must know:

In that research project, all of the procedures were done with highly advanced imaging to guide the injections and make sure the gel got into the joint space area ultra-precisely.

This is EXTREMELY important... because... research also shows that injections done WITHOUT this imaging to guide them... can miss the joint space about one third of the time.

That means, in one third of the injections, the gel wasn't in the joint space and couldn't possibly work!!!

We feel this is why so many people have tried this treatment and DIDN'T get good results like in the patients in this research.

So, if you have already had this treatment and it didn't work... was it done with this advanced medical imaging?

If not... there is still hope.

In fact, there is a very good chance you can still get relief.

Here is why: NYC Pain MD is a medical clinic located at 65 Broadway Suite 1004 New York, NY 10006.

We have physicians who focus in this treatment... and we use the advanced imaging to make sure the treatments are extremely precise and get the best results possible.

In fact, we have a doctor trained at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, Cornell University and even Harvard Medical School.

We have the best... but we also make treatments VERY affordable

Just because we offer the best possible treatments and doctors... doesn't mean we are so expensive only rich people can get our wonderful treatments.

Study shows this treatment was successful in 75% of knee arthritis pain sufferers... saving them from surgery for at least 7.3 years. Will it work for you? Find out for FREE

While treatments may be covered by Medicare and some insurances... we also offer pricing plans for as little as $13.57 per week so patients can finally relieve their pain and try to avoid surgery.

We don't want lack of insurance or money to be the reason you continue suffering.

Your Special Invitation...

If you have knee arthritis pain... and are even just a little interested in finding out what this treatment can do for you... we are inviting you to come in for a FREE screening appointment.

During this screening, you will get to talk to the doctor... ask questions... and find out if you qualify.

We will go over everything with you... and you will breathe a big sigh of relieve finally having real answers and a specific plan to to possibly relieve your pain.

We will leave no stone unturned... and we will help you any way we can.

Please understand this:

This treatment can possibly take away your pain...

No matter how long you've been suffering. It really doesn't matter. It may take a little more time if you've been suffering for years as opposed to a "new" case... but in the end... you can still get tremendous results...

No matter how bad or helpless you THINK your case is. Many of our patients thought their case was hopeless, too far gone, for anything to help them. Many of their previous doctors told them that. Well you're NOT. With this treatment... the way our expert doctors do it... there is always hope.

Most of our patients have told us we were their last resort. Last stop before packing it in and completely giving up and submitting to surgery. They soon found out that our treatments made it really easy to get relief... and, best of all...

You Get To See If You Qualify For FREE

That's right. We want you to see EVERYTHING first hand and to prove to you... without a shadow of a doubt... we have the help for your knee pain that you are desperately wanting. And we want to do it without you spending a penny or risking anything to find out.

That's why we are offering you this free screening.

So my big question for you is – is the opportunity to wake up tomorrow morning... and every other morning for the rest of your life... with less pain... worth the 60 minutes it will take to be evaluated?

What else could you possibly do with that same 60 minutes that could have such a profound impact on the rest of you and your family's lives?

You know, it's really disappointing to me that so many people just go on living with pain when you don't have to. So many of patients tell us how they used to be in pain... just about every day.

They were in so much pain... they were grumpy and miserable all the time. They hated work. They're relationships were strained. Life was just one big struggle. Now that they've discovered what we will reveal to you at your free screening... all that's changed... Work and family have become rewarding and fun. Life is so much easier and better... in so many ways... without the pain. Finally, things start falling into place the way you always thought they would.

One of the best things or physicians and staff hear is "Hey doc since starting this program I've lost 17 pounds because now that I can finally move around pain-free the weight just keeps coming off!"

Which one of those amazing things I just mentioned would you like to happen to you... right now.

Maybe it's none of the things I've mentioned. But, you do have hopes and dreams. We all do. And pain robs you of the opportunity to live out those hopes and dreams. Robs you of the life you really and desperately want... and deserve.

Whatever YOUR personal hopes and dreams are... They are all possible if you take action... right now.

All you have to do is give this a chance and schedule for the screening. But then again...

What's also possible is that your pain starts getting worse. And that happens to so many people from just doing nothing.

Taking action may seem like a little work... or... it may even be a little scary for you – but not taking actions is almost always worse. The eight most dangerous words to your future, your health, and your hopes and dreams just may be...

It Will Just Get Better All By Itself!

Fact is... it may only get worse.

Here Is How To Get Your Free Screening...

Just call us at 1-877-380-8537 and tell the scheduling coordinator you want your free screening. If you are one of the first 50, it is 100% free. No obligation or strings attached.

There is NOTHING to pay for and you will NOT be stressed in any way. We don't ever do that. You see, is not uncommon for us to get over 100 new patient calls in a single day.

Most are from word of mouth. But we wanted to open up this opportunity to as many arthritis pain sufferers as possible.

But because we get so many calls... we can only take 50 from what you are reading this month.

You have absolutely zero to lose and possibly everything to gain. But due to high call volume, we suggest you call now. 1-877-380-8537.

Judge blasts Trump ex-adviser Michael Flynn, delays sentencing in Mueller case

"You sold your country out," the judge told Flynn.

A U.S. judge fiercely criticized President Donald Trump's former national security adviser Michael Flynn on Tuesday for lying to FBI agents, and delayed sentencing to ensure Flynn cooperates fully with an investigation into possible collusion between Trump's 2016 campaign and Russia.

During the sentencing hearing, U.S. District Judge Emmet Sullivan told the retired lieutenant general that he "arguably" had sold out his country. Flynn pleaded guilty in December 2017 to lying to FBI agents about his conversations with Sergei Kislyak, Russia ambassador in Washington at the time.

Special Counsel Robert Mueller, leading the investigation, had asked the judge not to sentence Flynn to prison because Flynn already had provided "substantial" cooperation to prosecutors over the course of many interviews.

But Sullivan told Flynn his behavior was abhorrent, noting that Flynn had also lied to White House officials, who in turn lied to the public.

"Arguably, you sold your country out," Sullivan said. "I'm not hiding my disgust, my disdain for this criminal offense."

The judge also noted that Flynn was operating as an undeclared lobbyist for Turkey even as he worked on Trump's election team and prepared to be his national security adviser.

At one point, the judge asked prosecutors if Flynn could have been charged with treason, although he later said he had not been suggesting such a charge.

Sullivan appeared ready to sentence Flynn to prison but then gave him the option of a delay in his sentencing so that he could fully cooperate with any pending investigations. Flynn accepted that offer.

Prosecutors said Flynn had already provided most of the cooperation that he could, but it was possible he might be able to help investigators further.

Sullivan did not set a new date for sentencing but asked Mueller's team and Flynn's attorney to give him a status report by March 13.

In a separate development on Tuesday, Bijan Rafiekian, Flynn's former business partner, pleaded not guilty in federal court in Alexandria, Virginia, after being charged by U.S. prosecutors with unregistered lobbying for Turkey.

Prosecutors say the lobbying effort was aimed at having the United States extradite a Muslim cleric who lives in the United States and is accused by Turkey's government of backing a 2016 coup attempt. Rafiekian's trial date is Feb. 11.

Flynn is expected to testify in that case. REUTERS

Federal judge rules New York's nunchaku ban unconstitutional

In a landmark ruling almost 20 years in the making, U.S. District Judge Pamela K. Chen has decided that New York's 44-year-old nunchaku ban violates Second Amendment protections for the right to bear arms.

The deciding case, Maloney v. Singas, had been bouncing around the federal court system since 2003, when James M. Maloney decided to sue the Nassau County District Attorney specifically to challenge the 1974 law.

"[Maloney] has developed his own martial arts style called 'Shafan Ha Lavan,' of which the Plaintiff is the only practitioner," Chen's ruling reads. "Maloney wishes to teach Shafan Ha Lavan to his twin sons, but is unable to do so due to New York's nunchaku ban."

The case was nearly lost several times, after being dismissed by federal courts in 2007 and again when Maloney appealed in 2010. After he appealed again, this time to the U.S. Supreme Court, Maloney's case was sent back down for reconsideration after that court ruled that state legislators were bound to respect the Second Amendment in local laws.

Judge Chen found the Nassau District Attorney's case lacking, in part because New York state was unable to provide any suitable research linking nunchaku, or nunchuck, possession with criminality. Between 2014 and 2017, there were only five "nunchaku prosecutions," of which more than half were only for possession.

"There are no specific examples or crime statistics regarding these alleged 'street gang' nunchaku crimes cited in the legislative materials."

Judge Pamela K. Chen

"While concerns about unlawful violence by 'street gangs' involving the use of nunchaku evidently motivated the state assembly to pass the nunchaku ban into law," Chen writes, "there are no specific examples or crime statistics regarding these alleged 'street gang' nunchaku crimes cited in the legislative materials."

And while Maloney's lawsuit was only to legalize possession of the weapon, Judge Chen also invalidated aspects of New York's nunchaku ban that Maloney did not even mention. Not only is owning nunchaku in the state of New York now legal but so is transporting, disposing and even manufacturing them. The effects of this newly legal nunchuck industry on New York's economy remain to be seen.

Though the nunchaku ban is unconstitutional for now, it is still possible for New York to tighten regulations on the weapons in the future.

"This ruling merely reflects [the Nassau District Attorney's] failure to present sufficient evidence and argument to support [the law's] constitutionality as applied to nunchaku," Chen writes, "and does not foreclose the possibility that the government could in the future present evidence to support such a prohibition." Believe it or not, there are two currencies in America: money and time. Some of us don't have enough of either.

I find it sincerely disturbing that the homeless lack access to adequate bathing. Speaking as a homeless man myself, I, for one, would like to have access to a shower every once in a blue moon. Unfortunately, every shower I have ever found either has some gym membership attached or requires you stay in a shelter. Some of us work too much to afford that kind of time. The shelters I have been to won't let you work at night without some amount of effort that ultimately defeats the purpose.

If de Blasio is to advocate for the homeless, he should make efforts to allow for basic human necessities such as public showers or public restrooms. I work 20 hours a day to get myself out of homelessness, I'd like to smell nice so I can keep some clients.

Movies with a view

Nitehawk Prospect Park opens today in a gloriously restored 1908 building. ALL PHOTOS SAKENAH SALEEM

Take a look inside Nitehawk Cinema's second location, a grand old theater revived to full glory in Prospect Park.

EVA KIS

There seems to be no end to the appetite for dine-in theaters in New York, and the one that started it all, Nitehawk Cinema in Williamsburg, has finally opened a long-awaited second location with Nitehawk Prospect Park.

Two years and $15 million in the making at 188 Prospect Park West, Nitehawk Prospect Park is a bright and airy space that's as much for socializing as seeing movies. You don't even need a ticket to take a seat at its mezzanine bar with sweeping views of the park, sure to be a destination for fans of cocktails and movies.

The building dates to 1908 and was most recently home to the derelict Pavilion Theater. But you'll forget all about that amid the beautifully restored original Art Deco details revealed during construction (the Landmarks Preservation Commission signed off on the process).

The seven screens have 650 seats between them, making Nitehawk Prospect Park more than three times the size of Nitehawk Cinema in Williamsburg, and the building got some practical upgrades including elevators.

For Nitehawk founder Matthew Viragh, there was more to the Pavilion than just an opportunity to expand his theater empire.

"The Pavilion Theater was the cinema that originally inspired me to open Nitehawk," Viragh says. He admits to smuggling in booze for his movie nights there, which was illegal to serve in movie theaters under New York state law — until Viragh led a campaign to change it in 2011.

Nitehawk is known for its menus themed to certain films and craft cocktails, both of which will continue at the new theater along with local beers and the bi-monthly Film Feasts, featuring a several-course menu themed to the feature film. Patrons are also encouraged to Dine & Dash, which lets you pre-sign for your meal and drinks so you're not being presented the check during the film's climactic final moments.

As for what's playing, expect the same mix of big openings — this weekend's lineup includes "Aquaman" and "Mary Poppins Returns," as well as the hit royal drama "The Favourite" — mixed in with eclectic indie fare.

Catch one of the best documentaries of 2018, "The World Before Your Feet," plus "Shoplifters," "Green Book" and "Free Solo."

Tickets are $13 for adults and $10 for kids and seniors, available now at nitehawkcinema.com.

'Mary Poppins Returns' makes you feel like a kid again

LIN-MANUEL MIRANDA

Actor, writer and producer Lin-Manuel Miranda talked with Metro about how happy he is to be part of the relaunch of Disney's classic musical.

DANIEL CASILLAS,
MWN
letters@metro.us

After 54 years, Mary Poppins is back in theaters with "Mary Poppins Returns," a sequel set 25 years after the original Disney classic.

Directed by Oscar winner Rob Marshall, the film features Jack as one of the main characters, a street lamplighter played by actor, dancer and producer Lin-Manuel Miranda. The "Hamilton" creator and star talked with Metro about his experiences on "Mary Poppins Returns."

What did you feel when you found out you'd be part of the relaunch of "Mary Poppins"?

I can't say it's a dream come true, because who would have imagined there would be a sequel to "Mary Poppins"? But when Rob Marshall had a coffee with me one day when I was still working on "Hamilton," he told me that Emily Blunt was going to play Mary Poppins, I think she's amazing and unique. So I said, "I'm in." Being part of an original musical for film is a very rare thing. I wanted to learn from Rob, because I think he is one of the best musical directors today. I was very happy to be part of this.

It's a big responsibility to be part of a Disney classic.

What's great about Rob is that you don't feel the responsibility — he's the one who feels it, and he gives you total confidence and supports you. So we enjoyed the shooting a lot and tried not to think about the first film, just make the new one. You know there are eight Mary Poppins books, and there are adventures in those books that haven't made it to the cinema. So the responsibility was to tell our story as well as we could and just create the best movie possible.

What can you tell us about your character, Jack?

Jack is a bluffer; it's also a beautiful metaphor for what he does. In the first song he sings, "(Underneath the) Lovely London Sky," what we know about Jack is that he is always looking for light in every situation. He is a student of Bert, and is the same age as Michael Banks. But this new film happens 25 years after the original, so they have grown up. What he knows is that when Mary Poppins arrives, they are going to have an adventure.

Are you and Jack alike?

I think so, a little bit. You know I can dance like him [laughs]. It's a very difficult job to be able to dance like him.

Some people don't like musicals in cinema.

I don't know these people [laughs]. I live in the world of musicals. I write musicals, that's my bread and butter. So for me, what I love about this film is that for about two hours you can remember what it feels to live the wonder of being a child. That's what the movie does. If you like musicals or not, if you want to escape from this world of 2018 for a couple of hours, there is no better place to go than "Mary Poppins Returns."

How was it working with Emily and everyone?

Unbelievable! I learned a lot. Emily Blunt has also worked with Rob Marshall, but she has a lot of confidence and understood Mary Poppins instantly. She is very different from

"What I love about this film is that for about two hours you can remember what it feels to live the wonder of being a child."

ANTONIO TORRES/DISNEY

Julie Andrews, the original Mary Poppins, but, for example, when she walks in you think, "She is Mary Poppins." You don't question her for a second. She is fearless. Every person in the movie is fearless: Dick Van Dyke, who brings the legacy of the first film; Angela Lansbury, who brings the story of musicals with her. I enjoyed working with Colin Firth, Meryl Streep... with every actor. It was incredible.

What's next for your career?

I keep writing, acting. I go where inspiration takes me. My next film is as a producer. We're making "In the Heights." We're going to shoot it next year in Washington Heights, in my neighborhood, in Upper Manhattan. I am so looking forward to working on it with Jon M. Chu, who directed "Crazy Rich Asians."

Congratulations on your Golden Globe nom. How did you find out?

I found out about it when my phone fell off the side of my bed from all my friends' message notifications telling me congratulations. I am very proud of the nomination and I am very proud of this film and that we were recognized.

THE RESULTS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES!

Why 'Mary Poppins Returns' isn't a reboot or remake

"Mary Poppins Returns" shouldn't work as well as it does.

Released over 54 years ago, the original is a classic that is so spell-binding and enchanting, it embodies everything that's right about cinema. Somehow, though, the "Mary Poppins Returns" creative team has not only managed to tap into what made "Mary Poppins" so beloved and magical, they've also given it a modern spin, which means it doesn't feel out of place.

Set in 1930s London, Emily Blunt steps into the shoes of Julie Andrews as Mary Poppins, who returns using music, dancing and singing to help Jane (Emily Mortimer) and Michael Banks (Ben Whishaw) overcome a recent tragedy, with the help of Lin-Manuel-Miranda, Meryl Streep, Colin Firth and Dick Van Dyke.

Rather than a reboot or remake, the film continues the adventures of Mary Poppins and the Banks family, which was the only way to bring the characters back, according to director Rob Marshall.

"I never thought about a remake, because I knew we couldn't touch the original film in that way," Marshall tells Metro. "You just can't. It's too perfect.

What I actually thought to myself was, 'I'd like to do this film because I wanted to protect the original.'

"I wanted to pay homage to the first film, because I feel like we are the continuation of the story," he adds. "At the same time, I wanted to forge a new path for ourselves.

The way to do that was to really invent a completely original story. Which is what we did."

"Mary Poppins Returns" is heavily based on the wealth of material from P.L. Travers' eight books on the eponymous nanny. Travers' estate, which is famously very strict and protective about her material, had forged a relationship with Disney on "Saving Mr. Banks," the 2013 drama about the making of the original film, and they were more than comfortable with Marshall directing, too. That's probably due to Marshall's own close relationship with Mary Poppins.

"It was the first film I saw as a child. I was 4," says Marshall. "I just remember the magic, the music of it, the dancing. I just remember it so vividly. It was such a life-changing film."

"Mary Poppins Returns" is now in theaters.

Can the new comedy series fill the hole left by "Broad City"? YOUTUBE PREMIUM

'Overthinking with Kat & June' is the true 'Broad City' successor

The new comedy series from YouTube Premium is funny, cringey and worth your time.

letters@metro.us

With the final season of "Broad City" set to premiere next month on Comedy Central, fans of Ilana Glazer and Abbi Jacobson's quirky, poignant and female-centric sense of humor may be wondering what else out there might offer them something comparable. Look no further than "Overthinking with Kat & June," a new comedy series from YouTube Premium that begins streaming on Wednesday.

Tenea Intrigato and Alexia Dox star as the titular Kat and June, two new roommates who, judging by their very first interactions, couldn't be further apart from each other if they tried to be. As the show progresses, however, their "Odd Couple"-esque relationship of convenience ultimately blossoms into what the official logline dubs "a strange but beautiful female friendship."

Created by "Girl Meets World" and "All Night" writer Mackenzie Yeager, who also serves as co-showrunners alongside "Girlboss" and "American Woman" veteran Jen Braeden, Overthinking can get as weird as its trailer suggests. And this absolutely works in its favor, for the structure that drives the show is the pair's respective inner monologues and how often they don't match up with what's happening on screen.

The result is an occasionally surreal blend of laugh-out-loud comedy and absolute cringe. From Kat and June's frequent fantasizing about their older landlord David (Justin Kirk) to the former's attempts to prepare the latter for a first date with the help of the twins Tessa and Molly (Emily and Elizabeth Hinkler), Overthinking can sometimes emphasize the "over" in its title. The thing is, it works so beautifully for this show and the kind of comedy it's trying to accomplish.

Executive produced by Yeager, Braeden, Shelley Zimmerman and Shauna Phelan, and also starring comedian and former "Saturday Night Live" cast member Sasheer Zamata, all six half-hour episodes of "Overthinking with Kat & June" will be available to binge on Wednesday. Whether or not you choose to go through all three hours of the series in one sitting, however, depends on the kind of comedy you like and the amount of awkwardness you can stomach.

For like "Broad City," "The Office" and many other television comedies that have adopted the use of cringe, watching Overthinking can sometimes be an exercise in modern patience. (In other words, watching one episode at a time.) So if you know that this style is a problem for you, then be forewarned before adventuring into Kat and June's revolving world of the weirdly funny. If it's not a problem at all, then binge away!

"Overthinking with Kat & June" is on YouTube Premium.

The Amazing Sex Secret of 78 Year-Old 'Italian Stallion'

"My husband shocked me with more sexual passion than he's had in years. He took me in the bedroom like we were newlyweds and gave me a night I'll never forget"

The Inside Story on Great Sex!

This week I got a letter from a reader about a "little secret" that has made her sex life with her husband absolutely explosive! (Those Texas women are spicy!)

Tina writes:

Dear Karen,

For years my husband and I had a great love life. He was sexy, passionate and so confident. But when he reached his 50s, he started to struggle with getting and keeping an erection. The few times we did have sex, his erection was definitely softer, leaving us both unsatisfied. He tried every product out there; prescriptions, creams, testosterone, male enhancement pills... but nothing worked. I know this is terrible, but I found myself thinking "My strong, passionate husband has become a sexual weakling." I had no idea it would all turn around in just 3 weeks!

Last month, he came home from a business trip in Europe and shocked me with more sexual energy and passion than he's had in years. Hard as a rock, he tossed me around the bedroom like we were newlyweds' and gave me a night I'll never forget! It was incredible and so exciting!

He flat wore me out that night and it's been like that ever since. His erections are so hard and powerful, they trigger the most intense, toe-curling 'moments' I've ever had! So here we are, enjoying the best sex of our lives... in our late-50's!

When I asked my husband what caused such a dramatic change, he said on his trip he stayed in a hotel room next to an Italian nutritionist and his wife. Through the walls, he heard them passionately making love every single night, and sometimes again in the morning. One afternoon, he saw the husband leave their room and he couldn't believe it. The man looked much too old to be having so much sex.

My husband couldn't help himself, so he asked the man his secret. The nutritionist smiled, introduced himself as Vito, and told my husband he was 78 years old, his wife 65, and that after 32 years of marriage, their sex life was as good as ever. Then he took a small pack of tablets from his satchel, gave it to my husband, and said "These come from a small town up north and are made from naturally pure plant extracts, packed with densely rich sexual nutrients. They will give you back the sex-drive you had when you were young, and make you harder than you can imagine." Then he laughed and said, "You'll become an Italian Stallion like me!"

Italian Stallion is right! These past several weeks have been a dream. My husband's desire for me is through the roof. He takes me whenever he wants, and he even wakes up most days with a 'morning salute' like he did years ago. I love it! He's a sexual powerhouse, beaming with confidence, and our marriage is stronger than ever.

Karen, here's why I'm writing you. The pack of tablets is about to run out and we desperately want more. I've looked everywhere but can't find them. Do you know anything about these tablets from Europe and how to get some here in the States?

*Sincerely,
Tina C.,
Fort Worth, TX*

Tina, you and the rest of my readers are in luck because I do know about these secret European sex tablets. Ever wonder why older men from Italy, Greece, Spain, and all over Europe are famous for staying energized, passionate and sexually active well into their golden years? Well, for decades, these men have relied on a unique blossom extract called Provarin to enhance their sexual performance and satisfaction.

Milled on the fertile northern plains, the key ingredients come naturally from pure extracts found along the Baltic Sea. Finely ground and pressed into tablets, Provarin has a legendary reputation throughout the European sexual underground for naturally fueling extremely hard erections, and a powerful climax. As Giovanni from Amsterdam put it, "It's like sexual rocket fuel, especially for us older guys!"

The best part from a woman's perspective, as you well know, is that the extreme hardness and ongoing power is enough to send us over the blissful edge! I found out about Provarin a few years ago when I was dating a cowboy from Wyoming. He took Provarin every morning and believe me, that good ol' boy sure rocked my nights!

All-natural and safe to take, Provarin is still a well-kept secret for those in the know and they like to keep it that way. It's an old-school, family business and product is still harvested by hand twice a year. They don't have a website and don't do any advertising. They don't need to. Long-time customers and word of mouth ensures their limited stock is sold out every year.

They do have a distributor here in the U.S. When I reached out to them for this article, a spokesman said they were proud to produce the highest quality product for men and couples. He went on to say that if any of my readers call to place an order today and mention this article, they'll get a one-time 50% discount, plus 30 free tablets, and free shipping!

Wow, so there you go, Tina - and the rest of you readers! Just give them a call today and mention this article. The number is 1-800-380-2600.

Aren't you glad you asked?

Karen

Yanks to meet with Machado today

Will the Yankees go all-out for the star free agent?

JOE PANTORNO
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

The Manny Machado nationwide tour has officially kicked off as the New York Yankees await their turn to meet with the free-agent star infielder.

After meeting with the Chicago White Sox on Monday, Machado will head to the Bronx on Wednesday to meet with Yankees brass, including general manager Brian Cashman. He will head out to Philadelphia and meet with the Phillies on Thursday, per USA Today Sports' Bob Nightengale.

The 26-year-old Machado will provide the Yankees with a golden opportunity to salvage the first half of Major League Baseball's offseason while returning things to a sense of normalcy.

For a franchise that is used to getting whichever player it pleases, the Yankees have watched as free-agent starting pitchers Patrick Corbin, whose childhood team was the Bronx Bombers, joined the Washington Nationals before Nathan Eovaldi re-signed with the archrival Red Sox.

It's those Red Sox who are not only the class of the American League East, who the Yankees are currently looking up at, but of the MLB as defending World Series champions.

Cashman has attempted to acquire the final pieces of a championship puzzle to further improve on a 100-win team. The main issue has been starting pitching, which was addressed by the trade for James Paxton and the resigning of JA Happ. However, it leaves something to be desired in a starting rotation that still is expected to rely heavily on Luis Severino, Masahiro Tanaka, and CC Sabathia.

A major hole for at least the first half of the 2019 season emerged after starting shortstop Didi Gregorius underwent Tommy John surgery in October, leaving the left side of the Yankees infield with plenty of question marks. Those concerns are only intensifying after reports emerged on Monday that the Yankees might be looking to trade third baseman and Rookie of the Year runner-up Miguel Andujar.

It suddenly makes Machado a must-get for plenty of Yankees fans. However, it remains to be seen just how aggressive management will be if negotiations begin.

Machado was believed to be a $300 million-plus player this offseason, but a down postseason and hustling issues have hurt his value. While the Yankees have been linked with Machado throughout the year, it has been reported that they will not pay such a lucrative price for his services.

On Tuesday, though, the Yankees brought on former outfielder Carlos Beltran (also of the Mets) as a special advisor to Cashman, per MLB.com's Mark Feinsand. Beltran's agent was Dan Lozano of MVP Sports Group, who also represents Machado.

That suggests that the Yankees' initial tune is changing and will continue to do so if Wednesday's meeting goes well.

Or if desperation sets in.

After all, every passing day without a major deal to better the roster is just another step closer toward the Red Sox continuing their reign as top dogs in the American League. No matter what kind of budget the Yankees are on, that's an unacceptable concept for management to comprehend.

And you don't need to be an insider to realize that.

Should Giants consider Foles?

If Week 15 suggested anything, it's that the New York Giants should use the upcoming offseason to exhaust all possible avenues when it comes to finding Eli Manning's replacement under center.

While it was reported that the Baltimore Ravens and veteran quarterback Joe Flacco intend to part ways in the coming months, the Giants might want to consider a familiar face within the division.

Philadelphia Eagles quarterback Nick Foles continued to drive up his worth on Sunday night by keeping his team alive in a 30-23 victory over the Los Angeles Chargers.

The backup, filling in for an injured Carson Wentz, managed Week 15 perfectly on the road, completing over 77 percent of his passes for 270 yards.

It's the latest heroic outing from the 29-year-old, who led the Eagles to their first-ever Super Bowl title while winning game MVP after Wentz went down with a torn ACL last season.

His ascension into the spotlight couldn't have come at a better time as 2017 was a contract year. Yet he decided to resign with the Eagles despite knowing that he would be relegated to the backup role the moment Wentz returned.

After looking dead in the water after a Week 14 overtime loss to the Cowboys that dropped them to 6-7, the Eagles are back to .500 with Foles and just a game back of the NFC East lead after Dallas was shut out by the Indianapolis Colts.

Should Foles pull off another miracle and lead the Eagles into the playoffs, his value this offseason is only going to increase.

Luckily for him, there is a mutual option in his revised one-year contract that, should he decline, makes him a free agent after this season.

Reports on Sunday even before his victory over the Rams indicated that he will indeed become a free agent over the winter, which will present the Giants with another established name to take over should they decide to move away from Manning.

NFL.com's Ian Rapoport reported on Sunday that Manning could be playing his way back into contention for the Giants' starting job in 2019, but a miserable outing in slick conditions against the Titans led to a pair of costly turnovers from Manning in a 17-0 loss.

Foles is proving to be a clutch quarterback who can step up and be counted on in high-intensity situations. It was seen in Super Bowl LII against the New England Patriots and reaffirmed on Sunday night against a powerhouse Rams team.

With a bevy of offensive talents in running back Saquon Barkley and wide receiver Odell Beckham Jr., the Giants need a quarterback that can simply manage the game and find his best players.

Foles has shown an ability to do that, which means Dave Gettleman should at least consider the Eagle this offseason even if he is used as a temporary solution until the Giants are in a position to either draft or acquire an elite talent.
